MARK JOHNSTON

Mark Johnston, a seasoned international speaker and youth evangelist, carries an infectious zeal for invigorating the youth with God's power. Born into a devoted family in Northern California, Mark found his faith at 8 years old. After a successful entrepreneurial career, he answered God's call to full-time youth evangelism. Mark has inspired audiences in over 43 countries, using unique object lessons, games, skits, and stories to teach the Gospel. He has also authored a book on 101 object lessons for youth evangelism. Mark's mission through NextGen Arising is to equip our youth to live lives worthy of Christ. Learn more at: nextgenarising.com

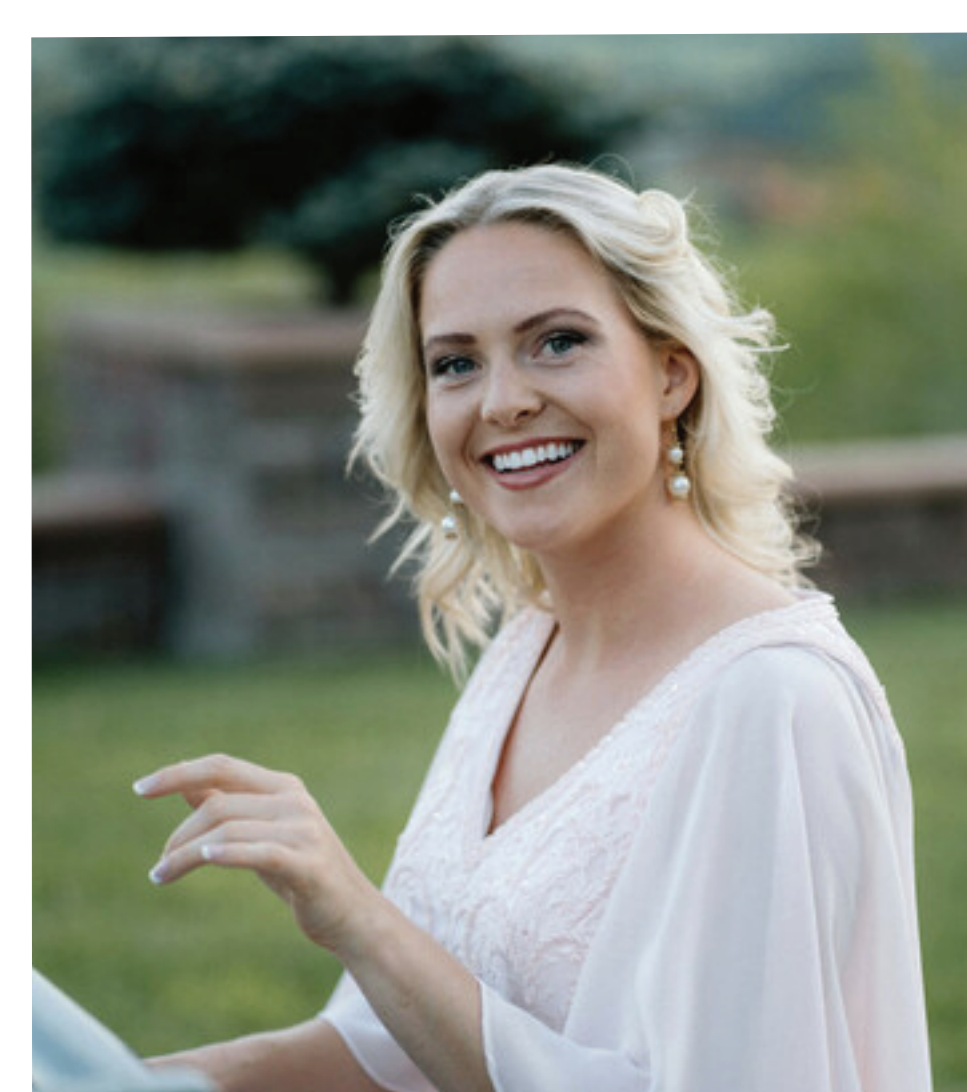

DAVID A. BISBEE

Vice President of Genesis Apologetics, Inc., works diligently to equip Christian families with resources that reinforce a Biblical creation worldview. With an extensive background in energy efficiency and research, David combines scientific knowledge with faith-based teachings. Now fully dedicated to ministry, his teachings have guided thousands to a deeper understanding of faith. Visit genesisapologetics.com

KELSEY JOHNSON

Kelsey Johnson, an adventurous spirit and music lover, has spent the past eight years sharing her passion for music by teaching piano by ear. Her ultimate calling, however, is sharing the Gospel. This mission illuminates her life and motivates her to positively influence those around her. Kelsey invites others to embark on a journey of exploring Christian identity, nurturing a relationship with God, and embodying joy and faith in today's world.
